

Symantec™ Endpoint Management Specialization

For partners with proven expertise in providing Altiris™ products and solutions.

The Endpoint Management Specialization provides qualified partners with recognition of their focused company commitment to selling Altiris products and their expertise in providing Altiris solutions to customers. Gain recognition and grow your business by maximizing your Endpoint Management opportunities.

The Endpoint Management Specialization offers a range of benefits to participating partners, including:

- Product Authorization, which provides the ability to sell Altiris products, is offered at a discount dependent on partner level within the Symantec Partner Program (SPP).¹
- Receive access to Internal Licenses for Altiris products for use on production networks²; and NFR license keys for a range of Altiris products for use in partner training facilities, briefing centers, or customer demonstrations.
- Access to Altiris Sales Training and Altiris Technical Training programs, offering online training and assessments at no charge to help sell and position Altiris products and solutions more effectively.
- Access to the Altiris Knowledgebase.
- Access to the Altiris Beta Center, which provides an opportunity to engage with Symantec at various levels of the development cycle for selected Altiris products.
- Listing on the Symantec Partner Locator marked as an Endpoint Management Specialization member to help customers and partners search for and identify partner organizations that can meet their specific Altiris needs.
- Endpoint Management Specialization certificate and logo.
- Eligibility to participate in promotions, initiatives, and partner events and to receive ongoing communications for Endpoint Management Specialization members.¹

Partners must meet the participation requirements to become a member of the Endpoint Management Specialization. The requirements include:
