The Product Transparency Notice you requested is currently under revision.

When products and services run up to new releases and when they get adapted to evolving requirements and needs, their privacy transparency features, attributes and characteristics also need to be updated. Ahead of the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) entering into force on May 25, 2018, this Notice is momentarily unavailable as it is being revised to integrate new GDPR-relevant information. It will be available at this link in the coming days.
